

Gillham Dam Hearing Set Nov. 24

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A hearing will be held Nov. 24 in U.S. District Court at Little Rock on a motion for an injunction to stop construction of the Gillham Dam on the Cossatot River north of DeQueen.

The Environmental Defense Fund, the Ozark Society, the Arkansas Audubon Society, the Arkansas Ecology Center and two individuals filed suit Oct. 1 in an effort to block construction of the dam.

The plaintiffs filed the suit so the river could remain in its natural free-flowing state.

Defendants in the suit are the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Gen. Frederick B. Clarke, chief of the Army Engineers, and Stanley Resor, secretary of the Army.

AMC Reports $56 Million Loss in 1970

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp. has reported a $56.2 million loss for fiscal 1970 compared with a $4.9 million profit in fiscal 1969.

This figure for the fiscal year which ended Sept. 30 was equivalent to $2.28 per share loss compared to 26 cents per share profit in 1969.

The fourth place automaker added Monday that it was operating profitably now and anticipated showing a profit in the first quarter of fiscal 1971, October through December.

Sales for 1970 including passenger vehicles, Jeep commercial vehicles and government contracts were $1.1 billion, compared with $737.4 million in fiscal 1969. Jeep Corp. was acquired last February and did not figure in AMC's 1969 earnings.

AMC said sales since 1971 models went on the market have been the highest since 1965.

Management officials blamed a five-week strike early in the 1970 model year and the general economic slowdown for keeping 1970 sales below expected levels.

clone alley. Three ships sent there with medical supplies were waiting for swift currents to subside so they could land their cargo.

Officials feared a widespread epidemic due to polluted water and the destruction of sanitation facilities.

Relief Commissioner A. M. Anisuzzaman said the storm Friday hit an area of 2,388 square miles in five districts with 2.2 million people. Casualty reports still were unobtainable from many areas because of ruined communications facilities, he said.

President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan and a group of newsmen flew over the area for more than two hours on Monday.

The rice crop, always insufficient for the area's dense population of 600 persons per square mile, was destroyed on Hatia, the neighboring island of Bhola and the mainland. The government estimated that 250,000 tons 82 per cent of East Pakistan's annual harvest—was destroyed. Bodies were buried in mass graves. Survivors remained wandering about on high ground. Brackish water stood in the rice fields, stained red by the blood of cattle flung about by the 150-mile winds and 20-foot waves characteristic of Bay of Bengal cyclones. Such storms are called hurricanes in the Atlantic and Caribbean and typhoons in the Pacific.

Some survivors were dragging the bloated carcasses of cattle to burial pits. A few human corpses lay in the rice paddies, still unexplored by the survivors because of the standing water.

On southern Bhola, a few homemade boats could be seen, little bigger than canoes, carrying people to a beach that had no vegetation. Live cattle stood in little clusters, awaiting the death that would come because they had no food.

In northern Bhola, where the island's biggest towns are, flood waters were more widespread than in the south but more life was visible.

Amid the devastation, the peasants were picking up their lives again, beginning to put up new huts from whatever materials they could round up and spreading out the household possessions they had salvaged, placing them on lines and fodder mounds to dry.

The devastating cyclones from off the bay are a semi-annual fact of life, coming every spring and fall with hundreds of thousands drowned and widespread destruction. The peasants are resigned to this inevitability.

Radio Pakistan said everybody was killed on 13 islands near Chittagong, a mainland city southeast of Bhola.

Anisuzzaman said $2.7 million was released by Karachi for relief and another $46 million was set aside. He said the army has been mobilized, and the United States has been asked to provide helicopters.

The relief commissioner said aid also is coming from Switzerland, West Germany and Britain. About $70,000 worth of supplies donated by the British government was loaded aboard Royal Air Force planes in Singapore.

run on until Dec. 23.

Scott, who opposed the idea of a lame-duck session in the first place, said this one will be an "unmitigated disaster" marked by political disputes and attempts to load down legislation with the pet projects of people who will not be returning next year.

The Republican leader said enactment of all pending appropriations bills is absolutely essential. There are eight awaiting action, including the giant defense appropriation, and a transportation bill that would provide $290 million to continue the controversial supersonic transport aircraft program.

He also put on the must-pass list a new farm bill, which is likely to stir partisan debate; action on a Social Security increase and the Nixon welfare reform plan; a new airline-ticket tax to pay for anti-hijacking guards, and a $1.5-billion emer-costly characteristic caused by the excessive domination of a single person, J. Edgar Hoover, and his self-centered concern for his reputation and that of the FBI.

Advance publicity on the book stirred Hoover to momentarily lower a barrier between himself and newsmen that had existed for three years.

Judging by past public statements of both men, Hoover and Clark were poles apart in their philosophical approach to law enforcement.

Clark displayed a tendency to search for the social and economic causes of crime; Hoover is less willing to forgive. Clark supported the Supreme Court decisions expanding rights of the accused; to Hoover they are "handcuffs" on the police.

Clark, considered a potential dark horse for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination, said in his book a rift developed between Kennedy and Hoover over pursuit of organized crime. The FBI Clark said, continued to dramatize the peril of the Communist party "long after there was any risk to national security from that source."

Hoover, however, gave other reasons for his rift with Kennedy.

"The trouble was that Kennedy wanted to loosen up our standards and qualifications; to discard the requirement that agents hold degrees in law or accounting. He even wanted to discard the bachelor's degree as a requirement," Hoover was quoted as saying.

Commenting on campus unrest, Hoover repeated to the Post his criticism of permissive college administrators and said reports that 1,000 new FBI agents, authorized by the 1970 Omnibus Crime Control Act, would be assigned to campuses were "absolutely untrue."

He also was described as denying that the FBI had reached any conclusions about the death of four students in a confrontation with Ohio National Guardsmen last May 4 at Kent State University. Any conclusions, he said, were made by the Justice Department from an objective FBI report.

The Post story also included these points:

—Hoover said he opposes proposals to give the FBI investigative jurisdiction in deaths of policemen. In most cases, he explained, the crime is swiftly solved by local authorities.

—The FBI director said his agency is now operating about 40 wiretaps in so-called national security cases, the only category for which advance court permission is not required.

The FBI he added, has a standing order never to tap the telephone of a senator, congressman or newsmen. Checking an allegation by the late columnist Drew Pearson that the FBI was tapping his phone, Hoover said he found the tap had been put on by another agency.

administration. He said he didn't remember making the statement.

Blaylock said after the meeting with Bumpers he was "more willing" than previously to be a part of the new administration if he was wanted.

Earlier Monday, Bumpers told the 36th convention of the Arkansas Municipal League that he would take a "sharp knife" to state agency budget requests, a move he said that might cost him some popularity.

In his first major speech since the general election, Bumpers said it appeared that total budget requests for the next fiscal year would be about $400 million.

He said general revenues probably would not exceed $256 or $270 million.

"It becomes apparent that a sharp knife will be necessary and that your governor-elect will not be as popular after the legislature adjourns as he was this past Nov. 3rd," Bumpers said.

"It is your responsibility as much as mine to educate the citizens to your problems — realistically appraising them that only services commensurate with available revenues can be provided."

Bumpers said afterward in discussions with newsmen that it was "quite apparent" that proposed budgets would have to be cut substantially whether or not new taxes are enacted.

He said he would have a better idea of whether he would need to ask for tax legislation from the General Assembly after he reviews the budgets for the coming biennium and after he receives a projection of state revenues from the state Administration Department. He is to receive the projection this week.

Bumpers said that in "all probability" the decision on whether to ask for taxes would be made well in advance of the legislative session beginning in January.

Bumpers revealed to the convention that he planned to submit legislation to give the cities greater home rule so that municipal affairs could be resolved by municipal officials.

Bumpers indicated that he did not believe the state Constitution would have to be changed in order to grant the cities more freedom. He said the legislature had the authority to grant "considerable" home-rule powers.

The governor-elect said he could not outline at this time the approach his administration would take, and he urged the league to explore various methods that might be suggested to him.

Bumpers also said he planned to appoint a committee to make recommendations on revision of the state Constitution.

He said he would ask the committee to study the feasibility of resubmitting to the voters the proposed state constitution that was rejected in the November general election.

Bumpers said the committee also would be asked to decide whether the constitutional convention should be reconvened to revise the document it drafted or whether to submit to the electorate the best features of the defeated charter.

Of the six Republicans, Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware is retiring and Mundt, out of the Senate since a stroke nearly a year ago, is said to be under strong GOP pressure to resign to South Dakota's Republican governor can name a successor before he surrenders his office in January to a Democrat.

Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, expressing interest in going on the committee himself, indicated in a separate interview Republicans may seek to change the committee's ratio to 8-to-7 to reflect the two-seat GOP pickup in the Senate elections.

McGovern also agreed with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., that Muskie is "way out ahead" at this stage for the 1972 nomination.

"I think at this point that doesn't mean an awful lot," added McGovern, expected to be first out of the starting gate for 1972 sometime early next year.

Kennedy said again Monday he would not run for the nomination nor accept it. He said in seeking re-election to the Senate this fall he would serve the full six-year term.

Cold Front, Showers Are Moving in

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A cold front is expected to move into Arkansas from the west late tonight and southerly winds ahead of the front will probably produce some shower activity.

No extreme temperature changes are expected with the passage of the front.

The shower activity may begin in the extreme west portion of the state late today and is expected to end from the west Wednesday.

Temperatures climbed into the 50s Monday afternoon after the coldest morning of the season and temperatures in the mid 50s to mid 60s were forecast for today. Lows tonight should be in the upper 30s to mid 40s with highs Wednesday mostly in the 50s.

Overnight lows included 32 at Fayetteville, 34 at Harrison, 30 at Jonesboro, 30 at Pine Bluff, 39 at Texarkana, 35 at Memphis, 30 at Little Rock and 35 at Fort Smith.

Governor's Hot Line Is Tapped

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — A source close to Gov. Marvin Mandel confirmed today that the governor's "hot line" telephone linking his office with those of other state governors and national Civil Defense headquarters is wired to permit eavesdropping on Mandel himself.

The hot line phone of Delaware's Gov. Russell W. Peterson is reported similarly wired. The phones were installed 14 years ago.

The source in Mandel's office said the wiring in the hot line phone indicated it had been done at the factory when the telephone was produced and not at a later date after it was installed.

Telephone company officials have denied that there is any way eavesdropping could have occurred on Mandel's phone or any other and have attributed the wiring to an "error."

The governor's aide did not say what would be done about not in the severe range. He added that damage to surface installations generally does not occur until a disturbance reaches 5.5 or 6 on the Richter scale.

The tremor was reported in Memphis and several other cities in western Tennessee and in the eastern Arkansas towns of Osceola, West Memphis, Blytheville, Jonesboro, Newport, Brinkley, and several others.

Sgt. Dean Bradley of the Jonesboro Police Department said he was standing in the Jonesboro City Hall when the tremor occurred.

"I've never felt a building shake so before in my life," Bradley said. "I was ready to get out of there."

No one was reported injured by the tremor but some structural damage was reported in Dyersburg, Tenn. The extent of damage was not known but it was expected to be only minor.

The tremor was heavy enough to rattle dishes in the cupboards of homes in Memphis and the Tennessee Highway Patrol said the vibrations were "noticeable" as far east of the Mississippi River as 80 miles.

Police in St. Louis said the tremor was not felt in the city and officers said there was no report of the tremor between Poplar Bluff and St. Louis.

The tremor occurred along what is known as the New Madrid Fault which runs along the Mississippi River in eastern Missouri and Arkansas.

The area is frequently rocked by minor tremors. A major earthquake occurred along the fault in the early 1800s. The quake changed the course of the Mississippi River and caused widespread destruction.

Soviet Gift Rejected by Union

DETROIT (AP) — A $50,000 gift offer from a Russian workers union has been "courteously rejected" by the United Auto Workers, a UAW spokesman has confirmed.

It was learned that UAW president Leonard Woodcock mentioned the offer last week when the union's national General Motors Council met behind closed doors to recommend ratification of a new contract with the automaker.

"We have enough trouble in connection with the strike without getting Moscow gold involved," Woodcock told delegates.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED for it, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

A CRY FOR HELP. WHO WILL LISTEN?

Dear Readers:

If anyone doubts the need for a "crisis line" in his town, let him read this desperate cry, and doubt no more! The writer gave no name and address. I have tried to contact her through a "Personal" in her home newspaper. Now, I ask again: Please, "El Fin," let me know who and where you are so that we can prove to you that teenager is never alone: there are hundreds of concerned adults waiting to help. — H.

(NOTE TO EDITORS: The "I's" are not always capitalized in the following letter — CQ — Helen Bottel)

To Who, To Who:

Some old lady didn't want a hot line in our town, and she's real rich and everybody listens to her, so i have no place to go and no one to talk to.

So maybe i'll talk in a letter. I don't even know to who. Maybe i'll just throw it out in the street and hope somebody picks it up. Somebody i don't know but will probably be the last person who'll ever hear from me.

You know, i've been alive for 14 years and a year ago i started to die and nobody even knows. Except YOU know now. Don't know why i'm telling you this except no one has ever cared enough to listen to me.

Please listen to me, please. Because maybe i won't be around no more if you don't: i mean, like i mean, where do you go after you die? No, i'm silly. You can't tell me — you don't even know who i am. I'm nobody, i got a name, but who cares. Most people say i'm crazy, if they say anything at all. Some people just spit at me and some men tell me i look like their daughter and then try to bang me.

I don't want to die, honest to God i don't. Why don't you care? I never hurt you?

I hurt my mother once; i hurt my guy once and i'm sorry. I'm sick of living, i'm sick of making love in the mud and moldy beds, i'm sick of lying to everybody. I'm sick cause i don't want my kids to grow up like me, i'm sick cause nobody ever said it was okay or told me they loved me. I'm just a kid — i'm not the devil or hell, just a kid...a crazy kid with no reason to live.

And everything's gone crazy, just spinning, too many colors and i'm sorry for everything, i really am.

If you got a daughter, please hug her for me and tell her you care, okay? You could be my friend — i never had a friend and no one should be gone, friendless. Hey! i can send this to Helen. Then everyone can read it.

Maybe they'll all laugh at me and say i'm a crazy hippie and hate me.

Don't let them hate me, Helen. I just want them to think where their daughter is now and she needs a hot line too. Do that for me, Helen, please.

Somehow i feel important now. I got some pills. They're sleeping pills, you know. Now that everyone has listened to me finally, can anyone tell me why i shouldn't take these pills? — EL FIN (that means the end, doesn't it?)

Dear El Fin:

Yes! Many people can tell you why you shouldn't take those pills. Please give us the chance by sending me your name and address. Youth Outreach and other teen centers are located near you and real help is there for the asking. If you'd rather remain anonymous, then call the Mental Health Association and ask for a referral.

You aren't alone! — H.

Dear Helen:

I need help! You see, i made up this person. He is filled with my other qualities. He is sure of himself, a good organizer, very smart — all the things i want to be. He knows we must become one person, but when we try, my mother comes along and we're back where we started. I made the mistake of telling my folks and they think i'm crazy. I need someone to understand. I'm not crazy, am i Helen? — LOST BOY Dear Lost:

Of course you aren't crazy! We all indulge in day dreams — and if we learn to act on them, dreaming will make it so. The right counselor (a teacher, minister or friend) can get you together and put your best self in the driver's seat. — H.

Texas Back on Top, Hogs Ranked 6th

By BRUCE LOWITT

Associated Press Sports Writer
It's nice to be No. 1 again—but Texas coach Darrell Royal is more concerned that, if his Longhorns don't remain there, they may find themselves watching football's bowl games on television.

The Longhorns, after spending a week as No. 2 behind Notre Dame, tried harder last Saturday and, by shellacking Texas Christian 58-0, vaulted back to the top of The Associated Press college football poll Monday. The Irish, whose 8-0 record equals Texas', had to scramble to nip Georgia Tech 10-7.

Cotton Bowl official Wilbur Evans said the Longhorns' return to the top "enhances our chances of giving the fans the No. 1 bowl attraction for the second straight year"—but Texas still has to get by Arkansas to earn that bowl berth.

Royal expressed concern Monday that the late date of the Arkansas game—Texas hosts the 8-1 Razorbacks Dec. 5 in what will likely decide the Southwest Conference title and the Cotton Bowl entry—could result in the loser getting shut out of post-season play as all the major bowl pairings would be completed by then.

But he quickly added he expected to be back in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day, adding: "We'd be delighted to play Notre Dame." A year ago the Longhorns squeaked by Arkansas 15-14 in the season finale, then rallied in the final minutes to beat the Irish 21-17.

Texas garnered 26 first-place votes to seven for Notre Dame and out-pollled the Irish 816 to 705 in total points in the poll, which also saw major shuffling among the remaining Top Ten teams according to the vote by a nationwide panel of sports-writers and sportscasters.

Nebraska, 9-0-1, which pounded Kansas State 51-13, moved up one notch to third place, 11 points shy of Notre Dame, and Michigan, 9-0, a 55-0 victor over Iowa, inched from fifth to fourth place with 682 points.

Ohio State, 8-0, which needed a late-game 30-yard field goal to edge Purdue 10-7, fell two places to fifth at 643.

The second five were Arkansas, up two slots; Louisiana State, also up two; Tennessee, leaping from 19th to eighth; Arizona State, from 11th to ninth, and Sugar Bowl-bound Air Force, up from 13th.

The second 10 are Stanford, Mississippi, Auburn, San Diego State, Toledo, Dartmouth, Georgia Tech, Northwestern, Texas Tech and Penn State.

Wildcats Are Rated Tops by Some

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
North Little Rock edged back into the top spot this week in The Associated Press high school football poll.

Jonesboro, ranked number one last week, dropped to second but was only two points behind the Wildcats. Each team received four first place votes from a panel of sportswriters and sports broadcasters.

Little Rock remained in third place, followed by Hot Springs and Arkadelphia.

Little Rock Catholic nosed Rogers out of the number six spot in the poll. Rogers dropped to seventh.

Fort Smith Northside is eighth this week, followed by Pine Bluff and El Dorado rounds out the top ten.

Arkadelphia and Rogers remained as the top two teams in Class AA, but Ashdown replaced McGehee in the number three spot.

Marked Tree, Alma and McCrory were ranked 1-2-3 in Class A and Danville, Magnet Cove and Horatio were the top three teams in Class B.

Here are the results of the poll with first place votes and team records in parenthesis and total points at right:

1. North Little Rock (9-1) (4)	96

Cavaliers, Bucks Do Their Thing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Milwaukee Bucks and Cleveland Cavaliers did their things again—and those are two very different things for the National Basketball Association teams.

The Bucks, leaders of the Midwest Division, careened to their 10th successive victory Monday night and their 11th in 12 games as Lew Alcindor and Bob Dandridge paved the way to a 119-100 romp over San Francisco.

And the Cavaliers, who tied an NBA record by dropping their first 15 games this season before coming up with their only victory, extended their second losing string to three as they fell 98-86 to Baltimore.

In Monday night's only other NBA games—a doubleheader at Portland—the Buffalo Braves silenced Seattle 112-103 and, in the nightcap, San Diego whipped Portland 136-118.

The lone American Basketball Association game, Memphis against Texas at Fort Worth, was postponed to avoid a conflict with the nearby Dallas Cowboys-St. Louis Cardinals National Football League game.

The Warrior held a three-point lead early in the second half before Milwaukee out-scored them 18-3 to put the game away. Alcindor topped all scorers with 31 point and Dandridge hit 30 while Nate Thurmond led San Francisco with 25.

Air Force Soars Into Sugar Bowl

By BRUCE LOWITT

Associated Press Sports Writer
The Air Force will soar into the Sugar Bowl New Year's Day post-season football classic in New Orleans while the Cotton and Orange bowls may fight over Notre Dame.

Speculation also arose Monday that Boston College might have its choice of the Peach Bowl in Atlanta or the Liberty Bowl in Memphis, Tenn.

And in Excelsior Springs, Mo., the sponsors of the Nov. 28 Mineral Water Bowl announced that Wayne State College, Wayne, Neb., 7-2 would face Franklin, Ind., College, 6-3, in its 24th annual clash, sanctioned by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Air Force's Falcons, who moved up three notches Monday to the No. 10 ranking in The Associated Press poll, became solid bowl contenders with last Saturday's 31-14 trimming of Rose Bowl-bound Stanford to boost their record to 9-1.

It is the third post-season game for the Falcons, who played Texas Christian to a scoreless tie in the 1958 Cotton Bowl and were belted 35-0 by North Carolina in the 1963 Gator Bowl.

Notre Dame appears to be repeating its 1969 act when, until it accepted a bid to the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, Tex., it kept several bowls in the air about selecting its opponents.

The Fighting Irish can't officially accept a bid, however, until after their Saturday game with LSU. Only a few teams, among them Nebraska and Air Force, were eligible under NCAA rules to announce bowl intentions after last Saturday's games.

The Orange Bowl in Miami, Fla., is still hoping to lure Notre Dame to its New Year's Night classic to face third-ranked Nebraska—but Coach Ara Parseghian has hinted his second-ranked Irish would prefer to return to the Cotton Bowl for a rematch with the No. 1 Texas Longhorns.

Texas, which beat the Irish 21-17 last New Year's Day, will have to get by Arkansas Dec. 5 to win the Southwest Conference crown and the Cotton Bowl berth.

The Orange Bowl, meanwhile, is also considering offering bids to Tennessee, Louisiana State or Mississippi.

Peace Bowl publicity director Bill Robinson said that "right now, Boston College and Penn State are the two eastern teams under consideration." Jack Bugbee, publicity director of the Liberty Bowl, also said Boston 52-43 at the half and 69-61 after three quarters. Then Baltimore outshot the Cavaliers 37-17 in the final frame with the Bullets' Gus Johnson leading the way, hitting 18 of his game-high 33 points. Walt Wesley was top man for the losers with 28.

Buffalo hit a sizzling 64 per cent of their first-half field goal attempts to race to a 70-41 intermission advantage. Don May's 25 points led the balanced Braves attack. Dick Snyder hit 20 to pace the SuperSonics.

Elvin Hayes sparked San Diego's victory over Portland with 29 points and 23 rebounds. Jim Barnett topped the Trail Blazers with 24 points.

College was in the running.

Penn State beat BC earlier this season and the Nittany Lions face Pittsburgh this Saturday. Pitt lost 21-6 to Boston College last Saturday.

Meanwhile, Big Ten Commissioner Bill Reed said Monday he favors repealing the conference's "no-repeat" rule and permitting its champion to automatically play in the Rose Bowl.

Under the 24-year-old rule, Michigan could beat Ohio State Saturday to win the title but be ineligible for post-season activity since it played in the last New Year's Day classic.

Reed said the rule was once a necessity to prevent one Big Ten power from becoming a Rose Bowl dynasty "but the nature of the competition in the last 15 years shows there is not much danger in a hierarchy taking over."

But he admitted its chance of being dropped are slim.

Card Defense Crushes the Cowboys

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys fans who booed Don Meredith from quarterback to television commentator—cried out for help from the "Dandy Man" Monday night, but he didn't want any part of the salty St. Louis defense, either.

The Cardinals crushed Dallas 38-0 in a nationally televised game to stay ahead of the New York Giants in the Eastern Division of the National Football Conference.

In doing so, St. Louis rolled up its third consecutive shutout—something which hasn't been done in the National Football League in 35 years.

"We want Meredith ... we want Meredith ..." the crowd chanted in the third period as the score mounted.

Meredith, warm and snug in the ABC-TV booth where he's a color commentator, said, "There's no way I'm going down there folks, I'll tell you that." Meredith, who retired in 1968, showed good judgment.

The fierce Cardinal defense smothered Dallas' once fiery offense at every turn. Meanwhile, Johnny Roland dashed 74-yards on a punt return for one score and ran 10 and 3 yards for two others.

The other Cardinal tallies came on a 48-yard double reverse by John Gilliam, a 29-yard run by Roy Shivers, and a 31-yard field goal by Jim Bakken.

St. Louis now has outscored its last three opponents 113-0. It beat Houston 44-0, Boston 31-0, and now Dallas.

The Cardinals are 7-2 and the Giants are 6-3. Dallas is 5-4 and sinking fast.

Cardinal Coach Charley Winner, who had never beaten Dallas on the road, said he wasn't trying to run up the score even though the Cardinals exploded for 21-points in the final period. "We were trying for the shut-out," Winner said.

Shivers broke loose on his scoring run near the end of the game and Winner mused: "When Roy came off I told him 'Roy, all I wanted was a first down.'"

The Giants shut out three consecutive foes in 1935. Detroit has the record of seven straight blankings in 1934.

Hanging Out the College Grid Wash

by HERSCHEL NISSENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the college football wash:

Darrell Royal was embarrassed and Bear Bryant was ashamed, but that's what national rankings and bowl bids can lead to these days.

"I hated to see those points climb up like they did," Royal said after Texas battered Texas Christian 58-0 Saturday. "I had the first team in there when we led 30-0 in the third quarter. TCU would have the wind in the fourth quarter and nowadays 30 points can go like zap."

"It's awfully embarrassing when you take your first team out of a game and then have to put them back in. It makes you feel ridiculous."

At any rate, Texas is back atop The Associated Press poll this week. Notre Dame, which only beat Georgia Tech 10-7, dropped to second after a week at the top.

Meanwhile, Alabama's Bryant said he was ashamed for putting his first-stringers back in the contest with a 24-8 lead over Miami of Florida. Te Crimmon Tide eventually won 32-8.

"We had a reason for it," Bryant said. "A bowl reason. If there are any bowl people who are slightly interested, I thought they'd be more interested in a 30 than a 20. I apologized to the Miami coach and told him I don't normally do that."

For the first time in the 75-year history of the Big Ten, two unbeaten teams will meet in the conference finale Saturday when Ohio State entertains Michigan.

Woody Hayes, who wants this one so badly he can taste it, admits he's "thought quite a bit" about the 24-12 loss to Michigan a year ago that spoiled the Buckeyes' run at a perfect season.

"We put an occasional headline on the bulletin board," he says. And then there's the famous rug the players see every day with that score woven into it.

Hayes is pleased with his defensive unit but says the offense hasn't yet played up to its potential.

Michigan's Bo Schembechler says he's "happy with the results of the first part of the season." And you thought coaches played them one at a time, didn't you?

"I never expected to go into the Ohio State game undefeated. We've improved from week to

Morton, who had three interceptions, said about his play "It's just a big headache."

Substitute quarterback Roger Staubach also served up an interception to the eager Cardinal secondary.

But Meredith knew when he was safe.

"Nice guys don't always win ... I don't care what anybody says," he laughed.

week, particularly the offense. The defense has played well all year."

Seventeen members of the Yale team are pre-med students, including all but one of the starting offensive linemen. The forward wall calls itself the Hypo Line.

Among the small colleges, Virginia State was knocked from the unbeaten ranks 14-6 by North Carolina A&T because of its inability to stop halfback James Lilly. Lilly carried the ball just twice ... for touch-down runs of 66 and 65 yards.

One reason Rutgers has won three straight games after losing five in a row is because of the sprints Coach John Bateman makes his defensive players do ... one for each point they give up. Apparently in shape after yielding 41 points to Princeton, 39 to Harvard, 54 to Delaware and 30 to Columbia, the defense has held Bucknell, Boston U. and Holy Cross to a combined 17 points.

At San Fernando Valley State they don't exercise at all.

"We go out there on the practice field and throw the ball around and then when we're ready to start formal drills, we just go at it—no exercises," says Coach Leon McLaughlin, a former pro star.

"I guess it's just luck that we've had only one injury. I got the idea that warming up might not help prevent injuries when I was with the Rams. One day, I warmed up hard, got a real good sweat and went out on the field feeling really good. On the first play, a lineman stepped on my foot and nearly broke it. What good did all my warmups do me then?"

Raiders Best Hogs Against Common Foes

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said Monday that of the five teams that both Arkansas and Texas Tech have played this year, the Raiders' defense has done a better job than the Razorback defense.

"Looking at our five comparable teams," Broyles said, "We have held them to 44 points and Tech has held them to 34 points."

Arkansas plays Tech Saturday at Lubbock, Tex.

the light heavyweight champion said Monday after completing his training for the scheduled 15-round fight Wednesday night in Cobo Arena.

The added weight-Foster is expected to weigh in at about 184-and its accompanying confidence are the results of a different and intense training program, according to Foster whose previous high fighting weight was 177, two pounds over the light-heavy limit.

For the first time in preparing for a fight Foster has done calisthenics. He also, according to Gore, is eating properly.

"Before he showed up at the gym, punched the bag, spit on the floor a couple of times and went home," Gore said of Foster's previous training habits.

Foster finished his gym work by sparring three rounds with Jim Davis.

Foster showed up at the 21st Century Gym, a sixth floor room in downtown Detroit, about 15 minutes after Frazier, who is expected to weigh 205, concluded his training by sparring three rounds with Moleman Williams.

The heavyweight champion, usually reluctant to talk when he is training for a fight, was in good spirits.

But as usual the champ would not discuss Muhammad Ali whom he always refers to as Cassius Clay.

As for a fight with Ali, Yank Durham, Frazier's manager, quipped:

"I think I'll fight George Foreman. What'd Clay ever do to deserve a fight for the championship."

Durham also made his usual prediction of victory within "one to 15 rounds."

21st Century Promotions, Inc., is hoping for a turnout of about 10,000, which would mean a live gate of about $300,000, to watch Foster try to become the first light heavyweight king to win the heavyweight title.

The fight also will be the feature half of a closed-circuit television doubleheader. The first half will be a scheduled 10-rounder between heavyweights George Foreman and Boone Kirkman in New York's Madison Square Garden.

TNT Communications, Inc., will handle the closed circuit television to 110 locations, with a seating capacity of 500,000, in 91 cities in the United States and Canada. The fight also will be beamed via satellite to 26 countries in Europe, Africa, Asia, South America and the South Pacific.

Hom Breaks

4-Year Drought

in Bowling

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Bud Horn broke his four year bowling title drought Monday night.

The 31-year-old pro from Los Angeles beat Dave Soutar of Gilroy, Calif., 259-to-181, to win the Mercury Open.

Soutar held onto second place while left-hander Wayne Sheridan of Richmond, Va., took third.

Horn's tournament average was 225.

SMU Captures

Cross Country

Event Again

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Southern Methodist University captured its third straight team title Monday in the Southwest Conference cross country meet here.

John Gardner of Texas finished the three-mile, hilly layout in 14:22 to capture the individual championship. Jimmy Whitley and Jack Pyle of SMU finished second and third with respective times of 14:29 and 14:33.

SMU, placing four of the first seven finishers, had 28 points, Texas finished second with 46 points followed by Arkansas with 96, Texas A&M with 107, TCU with 111 and Rice with 112. Baylor and Texas Tech were not eligible for the team title because they did not enter the required five runners.

Fears Bowls to Pass Up Good Teams

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Coach Darrell Royal of the No. 1 Texas Longhorns must feel like a man who is painting himself into a corner and can't do anything about it—except beat Arkansas.

Royal told a news conference Monday any of the three Southwest Conference teams still vying for the championship—Texas, Arkansas and Texas Tech—"would be tickled to death to be the other part of the bill" in the Jan. 1 Cotton Bowl in Dallas.

Asked twice whether he would like to play Notre Dame in a rematch of the 1970 Cotton Bowl, Royal finally said, "We'd be delighted to play Notre Dame."

"But I'm concerned about (Texas) A&M and Arkansas—that's enough to keep you concerned," Royal added. "I just hope we have a chance to go somewhere. I hope the late ball game (Dec. 5 against Arkansas) doesn't catch the bowls closed out."

An Arkansas victory would knock Texas out of the Cotton Bowl, and by then the other bowl pairings could be completed, leaving Texas with nowhere to go.

Royal recalled LSU was caught in a similar situation last year and stayed home Jan. 1 despite a 9-1 record.

The Longhorns, however, could solve Royal's dilemma by whipping A&M and Arkansas, insuring their straight trip to the Cotton Bowl.

While the bowl picture was fuzzy, Texas' injuries began to clear up.

Royal said the long layoff until the Thanksgiving Day game against the Aggies should enable linebacker Scott Henderson to recover from a bruised hip, and defensive starters Alan Lowry, Tommy Woodard and David Arledge also need the extra time to get back in the lineup.

Royal said fullback Steve Worster, promoted as a Heisman Trophy candidate, is "tender" because of a torn rib cartilage, but "we're pleased that he is not any worse than he is. It looks like he will be okay."

Royal said, however, the injury hurts Worster even when he breathes although "it is not dangerous."

Worster was knocked "woozy" on the TCU kickoff but actually hurt his side in the Baylor game the previous Saturday and "didn't say anything about it in practice," Royal said.

Royal said he thought Texas had the TCU game final score 58-0—won at halftime but kept his frontliners in for part of the third quarter because he was "afraid of the fierce wind" and possible Longhorn fumbles which would allow the Horned Frogs to "get hot."

He said center Jim Achilles had his "best game" against TCU, and sub linebacker David Richardson "held up extremely well," making 21 tackles. It was "by far" the Longhorn secondary's best game, he added.

"Our defense and offense complemented each other better than they have in a long time," Royal said.

Asked if he thought any Longhorns deserved all-star mention this year, Royal named Worster offensive tackle Bobby Wuensch, defensive end Bill Atessis, and he added, "I haven't seen a better halfback than Jim Bertelsen."

Questioned about reports a couple of Longhorn assistant coaches are being considered for the head coaching job at Rice, Royal said "several" of his assistants "can handle a head job. They have drive, aggressiveness, personality, knowledge, tact—the whole bit."

Cotton Bowl

Could Be

The Game

DALLAS (AP) — A Cotton Bowl official says Texas' No. 1 ranking this week in The Associated Press collegiate football poll may lead to "the No. 1 bowl attraction for the second straight year."

"We're gratified to see that Texas is No. 1," the Cotton Bowl official, Wilbur Evans, said Monday. "We feel it enhances our chances of giving the fans the No. 1 bowl attraction for the second straight year."

A delegation of Cotton Bowl officials will be in South Bend,

NBA Scoring Race Tight as Can Be

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association scoring race is tighter than a drum ... for second place.

An average of just four points separate Boston's John Havlicek in second place from Chicago's Bob Love in seventh place. Bunched between those two are Lou Hudson of Atlanta, Jerry West of Los Angeles, Elvin Hayes of San Diego, and Dave Bing of Detroit.

And on top of the stack is Milwaukee's Lew Alcindor, whose 33.7 points per game is almost five more than Havlicek's second place pace of 28.9.

Alcindor also leads in field goal accuracy with a .616 percentage.

The free throw leader is Dick Snyder of Seattle, averaging .917 of his foul shots.

Wilt Chamberlain's average of 20.3 rebounds per game leads that department and Len Wilkens of Seattle leads in assists with 169.

Manager of Browns Called by Grand Jury

By CHARLES R. HORNICK
CLEVELAND (AP) — General Manager Harold Sauerbrei of the Cleveland Browns was expected to be the first witness today before a newly impaneled federal grand jury investigating antitrust cases.

The investigation opened Monday with Blanton Collier, head coach of the Browns, as the first witness. He was followed by Tom Fears, who was fired Nov. 3 as coach of the New Orleans Saints after the club had a 1-5-1 record in its first seven games, the worst in its four-year history.

Besides Sauerbrei, other Browns representatives expected to appear before the grand jury today were offensive coach Nick Skorich and defensive backfield coach Howard Brinker.

St. Louis Cardinals representatives also were expected. St. Louis was the only other National Football League team confirming that it had been subpoenaed to appear this week. Several other clubs said, however, that they had received subpoenas for later appearances.

"I answered all their questions," Collier told newsmen after spending an hour and 40 minutes before the 23-member jury. "I have nothing further to say at this time."

Fears, a former Los Angeles end and a member of the Professional Football Hall of Fame, told newsmen he was not surprised at questions asked of him during the hour and a half he was before the jury.

He said he could not comment when asked if the questions related to speculation that the jury might be investigating the NFL merger with the American Football League and alleged blackballing of some players.

Attorneys for the Cleveland office of the U.S. Justice Department's Antitrust Division have refused comment on the investigation or even to confirm that there is one.

Collier, who was accompanied to the Federal Building by attorney Thomas Meaney, told newsmen before entering the jury room:

"I'm as much in the dark as you fellows are, so we'll start out together." He was smiling and in apparent good spirits when he emerged from the room.

Ind., Saturday when No. 2-ranked Notre Dame is host to Louisiana State.

Texas, defending national champion, defeated the Fighting Irish 21-17 in the Cotton Bowl last January, but the Southwest Conference championship remains undecided this season with Arkansas and Texas Tech still in contention.

Secret Soviet Pact With Nazis, Facists

By ENDRE MARTON

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A secret part of the 1940 pact signed by the Soviet Union, Nazi Germany, Fascist Italy and Japan contained a paragraph saying Russian "territorial aspirations center south of the national territory of the Soviet Union in the direction of the Indian Ocean."

Whether the statement remains a grand design of the Soviets, it is a good starting point for considering a U.S. policy and money problem that has so far had only back-burner concern.

At stake are people, oil and transportation lanes. In the late 1960s, Russia began its vigorous interest in the area, developing a major naval presence. This string has now run to reports, still unconfirmed, of Soviet bases being established at South Yemen's Socotra Island, Mogadishu in the Somali Republic and trawler facilities at Mauritius.

Peking has a modest entry with a small base at Pemba Island, which belongs to Zanzibar, and perhaps port privileges at Dar es Salaam. There is no indication as to what, if anything, the Nixon administration intends to do, but the Israelis are reported to have done something about their slice of the problem: the Red Sea.

A secret pact reportedly has been signed between Israel and Ethiopia, permitting the Israelis to establish bases on the Ethiopian islands of Haleb and Fatimah. They guard the mouth of the sea which leads to their port of Elath.

Israel will not comment. U.S. officials say they do not know. The same U.S. answer is given to reports of fresh Soviet naval expansion in the area. "We have heard about them," a State Department spokesman says, but there is no hard evidence.

In the face of all this the visible U.S. military presence adds up to one seaplane tender and two destroyers in the Indian Ocean. This is nowhere near the contention level the United States 6th Fleet maintains with the Soviets in the Mediterranean.

Although U.S. admirals argue for an expanded presence in the Indian Ocean, the only indication they will have their way was a statement attributed to Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird last July:

"Naval patrols of this ocean will begin as soon as the Vietnam situation eases enough to free vessels of the Far East 7th Fleet, generally considered far stronger than the Soviet's in that section of the world."

The British, once predominant in this power arena, are not expected to play a major role, although the new conservative government of Edward Heath has reversed Labor's policy of militarily abandoning the area known as "east of Suez."

Washington's opinion about the grand Soviet intention is divided. Some say naval "gunboat diplomacy" means nothing in the nuclear age. Others disagree, saying unless the United States acts, the Soviets will gain powerful and potentially dangerous leverage in the area.

Both camps do agree, though, that a primary Moscow objective—short term and possible—is to reopen the Suez Canal, the best sea approach for Soviet influence.

Singer Protests Facilities

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Singer Kaye Stevens stood outside the city's new Three Rivers Stadium Sunday and protested the lack of juvenile facilities in Allegheny County.

Carrot-topped Miss Stevens, who visits juvenile institutions as she travels the country's night club circuit, headed a band of about 30 who paraded outside the stadium prior to the Pittsburgh-Kansas City football game.

"I don't know who spent the money to build this $35 million stadium, but they should consider helping children of this city and build a drug rehabilitation center," she declared.

"The youngster who wants to give up drugs has no place to go, no way to get out of it."

The late Sidney Silodor of Philadelphia, like all great players, tended to overbid a trifle when he was going to be the declarer.

Sidney knew his jump to six diamonds was an overbid, but he was in a gambling mood. West opened the king of hearts. A lead of any other suit would have been better. East played the six. Sidney won with his ace and promptly led back the innocent-looking seven of hearts.

West didn't see any problem with that little card. He played a low heart. With a 5-3 break in hearts, Sidney could afford to ruff two hearts low and one heart with the ace of trumps, but he had seen that six-spot fall from the East hand. He knew that East would automatically play high-low with a doubleton and that six-spot just had to be either a singleton or the start of an echo, so Sidney discarded a low club from dummy.

From then on, the hand was a cinch. He cashed his ace and king of clubs, ruffed a club low in dummy, ruffed back to his hand with a low spade, ruffed a heart with dummy's ace of trumps and conceded his last heart as a final loser.

If West had been wide-awake, he would have covered the heart seven with his nine. Sidney would ruff in dummy, return to his hand with the ace of clubs and lead the 10 of hearts. West should let this card ride. Sidney could discard a club, but West would ruff and lead a trump, whereupon Sidney would be left with one trick gone, a losing club and heart and just one trump in dummy for those two losers.

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

Most people who have a cold or mild respiratory infection do not see a doctor. This isn't too surprising since more than one of every two people has a cold in the winter and one out of five during the summer. But a number of serious diseases that need medical attention start or resemble a simple respiratory illness.

How do you decide if you need to see a doctor? Let me give you a few rules. Call your doctor if:

• You have weakness because of age;

• You have lung disease, rheumatic heart disease, weakness because of any heart trouble, diabetes, or any serious illness;

• The body temperature by mouth is 102 degrees, or the fever lasts more than three days;

• Chills occur, there is a persistent severe cough, chest pain or difficulty in breathing, swollen, painful neck glands, sore ears, or vomiting.

If you treat yourself for mild infections without the problems I just listed, there are some dos and don'ts. The goal is to make you more comfortable, since you can't cure most of these illnesses.

Adults can take two five-grain (0.3 gram) aspirin tablets one to four times daily. Children should take no more than one-third (20 milligrams) for each five pounds of body weight; three or four times a day.

A number of effective cough medicines can be bought without a prescription. You should find out if there is any particular one your family doctor recommends.

You shouldn't take nose drops or use inhalers unless your doctor approves of the one you use. Some of those available contain drugs harmful to patients with heart disease and other medical problems. Some actually aggravate inflamed nasal passages and do not promote recovery.

Antibiotics cannot cure most colds and related respiratory infections. These viruses are not sensitive to antibiotics. Doctor give antibiotics for a "strep throat" or an infection caused by a germ other than a virus. One form of virus pneumonia responds to some antibiotics (not penicillin).

Although antihistamines are popular, they don't do much for colds. They are effective in treating allergies with a runny nose that resembles a common cold. They are also a good sedative and induce sleep. In this way they make some patients more comfortable. Sleepiness though, can cause a driver to be a traffic hazard.

Alcohol has no beneficial effects upon a cold other than its sedative action, which results in mood elevation.

Getting plenty of rest is wise. It is not, however, necessary to rest in bed. The horizontal position alone weakens the body. I usually recommend that adults and older children sit up quietly a good bit of each day while resting. Of course, small children may have to be kept in bed to

Final Vote Totals Are Announced

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The final and official returns from the Nov. 3 general election show Gov.-elect Dale Bumpers the winner over Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller by 178,230 votes.

Secretary of State Kelly Bryant certified the vote Monday. The official totals in the governor's race were 375,648 for Bumpers, 197,418 for Rockefeller and 36,132 for Walter Caruth of Lexa, the American party candidate.

The total vote in the governor's race was 609,198.

These are the official results in the other races:

—For lieutenant governor, Democrat Bob Riley 334,379; Republican Sterling Cockrill Jr. 232,429; Hubert Blanton of the American party 25,042.

—For attorney general, Democrat Ray Thornton Jr. 449,507; John N. Warnock of the American party 65,573.

—For secretary of state, Democrat Kelly Bryant 360,209; Republican Jim Sheets 217,752.

—3rd Congressional District, Republican John Paul Hamerschmidt 115,532; Democrat Donald Poe 57,679.

—Proposed state constitution, for 223,334; against 301,195.

—Act 1, full crew repeal, for 246,297; against 289,896.

—Act 341, state Library, for 161,451; against, 280,218. No results available on the bonds.

Environment Issue Includes Junk Autos

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's legislative program for the new Congress may include proposals on land use, junk automobiles, mercury and other toxic matter, and trash dumping in oceans.

Preparation of proposals on these items and other environmental problems is now the top priority of the President's Council on Environmental Quality, says its chairman, Russell E. Train.

But it's a heavy burden on a small agency with relatively little money whose 15 professionals are supposed to ride herd on the entire environment.

Train's council is also responsible, for example, for reviewing hundreds of environmental impact studies, submitted by other federal agencies along with program proposals.

Train acknowledged in an interview the council could not give those studies "the kind of very careful, detailed review...that we would like."

To fulfill those responsibilities adequately, said Train, "we ought to be somewhere between two and three times as big."

At present, the council has, in addition to its three members, only a dozen professional staff assistants and about 30 other workers.

In addition, the council's $1.5 million budget request for the current fiscal year was slashed by one-third in Congress, and that reduced funding was blocked when President Nixon vetoed the multifaceted "independent agencies" appropriation.

Train hopes to get the full request when Congress reconvenes the bill.

Some conservation specialists who had high hopes for the council when it was created last January are seriously concerned about these handicaps.

Considering its money and manpower problems, the Council has turned in a great deal of work in its first 9 months.

Its first major task was the writing of a first-ever report on the state of the environment—a project, says Train, which "created a massive demand on our time."

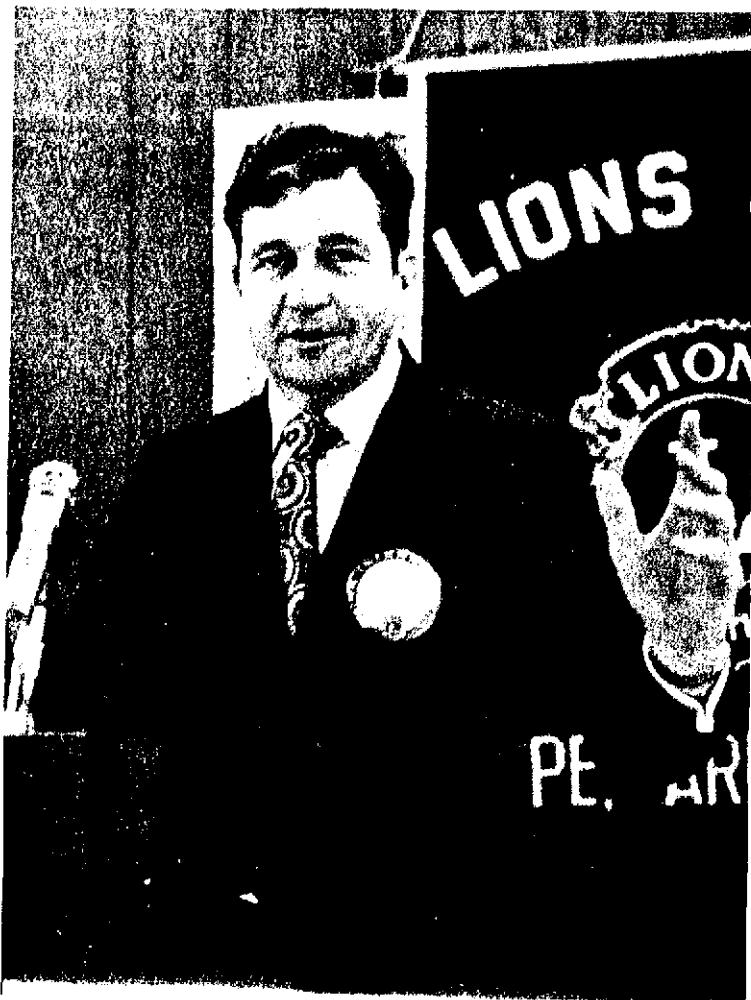

By the time the report was published in August, the council had received more than 70 environmental impact studies, and by the end of October they were flowing in at the rate of four a day.

"Since the annual report," Train said, "the legislative program has been our major staff priority."

In between these tasks, the council has issued guidelines for preparation of the impact studies; aided in creating a new antipollution agency EPA and an ocean-atmosphere agency NOAA and contributed to proposals on a bewildering variety of pressing national problems.

If conservationists seem disappointed, it may be largely the

ORLON DODSON

Chamber of Commerce President Hubert Thrash invited News Director Orlon Dodson of Channel 3 TV, Shreveport to be guest speaker Monday at the weekly Lion's Club Luncheon.

Mr. Dodson spoke on the problems of gathering and reporting news and about some of the criticism which the news media receives. He assured the group that all is being done within his power as News Director to bring the news as fairly and unbiased as is possible. He further explained why the minority so often seem to gain the news spotlight. They are well trained to watch for the right time when news is needed and they know the type news that is demanded.

Mr. Dodson was taken on an industrial tour of Hope, after the meeting, to acquaint him with things of interest for a program to be used in the future on Channel 3.

One new member, Mr. Royce Pendergrass, was introduced and two guests, Mr. J.R. Maunalt a former member now living in Iowa, and Pod Rogers from the Hope Star.

Rules Haywood Must Fulfill His Contract

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A federal court says Denver Rocket superstar Spencer Haywood must fulfill his contract with the American Basketball Association team and cannot negotiate to play with any other team.

The restraining order holding the 6-foot-3 center to his pact, reportedly worth $1.9 million, came Monday after J.W. Ringsby, president and general manager of the Rockets, filed suit, claiming Haywood has breached his contract by not playing with the team.

The 21-year-old Haywood is represented by attorneys Al Ross and Marshall Boyer and the firm All-Pro Management, Inc. All three were ordered by the court not to "induce Mr. Haywood to refuse to play with the Rockets" and not to solicit, negotiate or attempt to negotiate between Haywood and "any other pro basketball team."

However, after the action, Ross said the order did not prevent him from talking with ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph about the possibility of Haywood's playing with another ABA team. He said the order tries to prevent him from talking with the National Basketball Association.

A Nov. 25 hearing has been set for both sides to present their cases.

ABA Launches Drive on Holding Bill

By JEAN HELLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Bankers Association has launched a last-minute campaign to win congressional approval of a watered-down version of a bill to regulate controversial one-bank holding companies.

The ABA's drive seeks an eleven-hour lobbying effort by 69 bankers in the home districts of the 12 House and Senate members who meet Wednesday to work out a compromise between the tough House-passed one-bank holding company bill and the weaker Senate version. The legislation would, in effect, stop banks from doing business in non-banking fields.

The ABA, in a letter to the 69 bankers, stressed its support for the Senate bill and asked the bankers to get in touch with the House-Senate conferees before Wednesday to make that position clear.

Three of the conferees hold large blocs of stock in banks whose aid the ABA has tried to enlist. They are Reps. Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo.; Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis.; and J. William Stanton, R-Ohio.

Mrs. Sullivan is a stockholder of the Mercantile Trust Co. in St. Louis. Mercantile Trust's president, Donald E. Lasater, was asked by the ABA to contact Mrs. Sullivan but he said in an interview that the bank decided not to take any action on the ABA request.

"They knew better than that," Mrs. Sullivan responded. "I'm for the House bill as strong as it's humanly possible to keep it and the bankers all know my position."

Reuss owns stock in Marshall & Ilsley Bank in Milwaukee. The ABA asked the bank's vice president, Donald N. Baxter, to contact Reuss. Baxter said another banker handled the request. A spokesman for Reuss said the congressman had not been contacted by anyone.

Tate Wants to Defend His Children

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I want a chance to defend my children," said Charles Manson — gesturing at three women co-defendants — in his latest plea for the right to act as his own lawyer in the Sharon Tate murder trial.

But, as the state rested its case Monday, the judge turned him down once again.

The leader of a communal "family" made the emotional request as the court was about to recess until Thursday to allow the defense to prepare its case.

Manson's renewed plea to act as his own attorney drew the support of two defendants' lawyers. Paul Fitzgerald and Ronald Hughes said Manson as his own attorney would be invaluable in drawing testimony from defense witnesses among his hippie-type followers.

"If it was just myself it would be a simple thing," said Manson, waving a hand toward the three young women. "These children here are your children as much as mine, and I love my children very much."

In refusing Manson's request, Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older said, "You are hopelessly incompetent to defend yourself in a case of this complexity. I have made that conclusion before, and I have made it today."

Before the ruling, the judge allowed Manson to speak uninterrupted for more than five minutes. It was the defendant's most coherent plea for self-representation of several he had made since the trial began 23 weeks ago.

"The very foundation we all stand on is the right of individual freedom," he said. "I'm not asking for anything my forefathers didn't ask for or die for... I'm not a leader and I don't wish to be made into a leader or

Senate Deals Blow to Nixon Safety Bill

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has dealt President Nixon on his first loss in the newly opened lame-duck session, a two-vote rejection of his effort to water down a job safety bill backed by organized labor.

In spite of Monday's 41-39 vote to table, and thus kill, a White House backed substitute for the bill covering 80 million workers, Republicans indicated another effort would be made to bring the measure more in line with administration and business thinking.

Seven Republicans, including one defeated for re-election two weeks ago, joined 34 Democrats in voting against the administration's substitute. Opposing the tabling motion were 27 Republicans and 12 Democrats.

Among those voting to table the President's plan was Sen. Charles Goodell, R-N.Y., defeated Nov. 3 by conservative James L. Buckley, the White House favorite in the three-way race.

Other Republicans voting to kill the administration's proposal were Edward Brooke of Massachusetts, Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, Jacob Javits of New York, Richard Schweiker of Pennsylvania and Ted Stevens of Alaska.

Two other Republicans, Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Charles Percy of Illinois did not vote but were paired—or announced—as in favor of tabling.

The action leaves the bill approved by the Labor Committee before the Senate. That measure has the support of the AFL-CIO and liberal Democrats.

The Democrats' bill gives the secretary of labor authority to make and enforce mandatory health and safety standards for virtually all industries.

Under the defeated Nixon plan, one board would be created to draw up the standards and another to enforce them.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, asked Congress to reject the President's proposal, declaring that the boards would both be industry-dominated.

However, Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., who offered the administration substitute, said concentrating all authority in the secretary of labor put too much power in the hands of one man.

a martyr or a hero. I would like to make myself back into myself... I can bring the truth forward that I have not broken the law."

Manson, 36, is charged with murder-conspiracy along with followers Susan Atkins and Patricia Krenwinkel, both 22, and Leslie Van Houten 20. They are accused in the August 1969 slayings of the actress and six others.

The state rested its case after winning admission of some 250 items of evidence including 73 photographs of the victims, bloody in death.

Six Superior Officers on Calley Jury

By KATHRYN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — A young infantry lieutenant charged with murdering 102 civilians at My Lai goes on trial today before a jury of six superior officers, five of them Vietnam combat veterans.

If convicted, Lt. William L. Calley Jr., 27, of Miami, Fla., could face the death penalty or life imprisonment.

The panel of six jurors, completed late Monday after four days of questioning 25 prospects, included one colonel, three majors and two captains.

The trial is expected to last a month.

The defense is expected to argue that any killing at My Lai resulted from orders by Calley's commanding officers.

The government contends the young lieutenant was responsible for mass slayings of Vietnamese civilians while leading a platoon in Co. C of the Americal Division's 20th Infantry in a combat sweep of the L-shaped hamlet March 16, 1968.

The juror who is not a Vietnam combat veteran is Col. Clifford H. Ford, 53, of Knoxville, Tenn. However, he is a veteran of World War II in the European theater, and of the Korean War.

The five jurors who served in Vietnam are:

—Maj. Walter D. Kinard, 33, of Columbus, Ga., who holds the Silver and Bronze stars, both awarded for service with the 173rd Airborne Brigade.

—Maj. Charles C. McIntosh, 38, of Donora, Pa., who won two Silver Stars and was wounded.

—Maj. Carl R. Bierbaum, 36, of Litchfield, Ill., who flew combat air missions.

—Capt. Ronald J. Salem, 34, of Sioux Falls, S.D., a platoon leader and later a military adviser.

—Capt. Harvey G. Brown, 37, Amarillo, Tex., who came under fire while serving as an adviser to a South Vietnamese unit.

Bierbaum, Kinard and Brown each served two tours of duty in Vietnam.

A two-thirds vote of the jury is required for conviction. A unanimous vote is necessary to impose the death penalty.

Parents Are Jailed for Child Abuse

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) —

Sheriff's deputies have arrested the parents of a 13-year-old girl who doctors say can't talk and has the mind of an infant because she was kept in virtual isolation since birth.

Susan Wiley, wide-eyed and brown-haired, spent her time inside her parents' modest two-bedroom home in this Los Angeles suburb except for brief periods when she played in the yard or sat on the porch, deputies said.

She walks with a stooped shuffle like an aged person and her arms and bone structure are extremely thin, doctors said.

They placed her mental development as equal to that of a 12- to 18-month-old infant, said she still wore diapers, and that her size was that of a 10-year-old.

The doctors said Susan could become physically normal after treatment but that they were unsure about possible mental progress.

Deputies said Susan had been hospitalized since Nov. 4. The case was made public after her parents were arrested Monday.

Clark Wiley, 70, and his estranged wife Irene, 50, were booked for investigation of child abuse and released on $1,250 bail each.

Sheriff's investigators said a social worker brought the case to their attention when Mrs. Wiley left her husband, took Susan to live with the girl's grandmother in nearby Monterey Park and applied for welfare.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Benny celebrated his 20th anniversary in television Monday night with a nostalgic and funny special on NBC.

The program reunited Benny's old gang that goes back to the radio days—Rochester, Dennis Day, Don Wilson and even Mary Livingstone. In addition, Bob Hope, Lucille Ball, Red Skelton, Frank Sinatra, Dinah Shore, Dean Martin and more old friends and associates bobbed in and out. It could have been a jumble, but the hour was organized, and each visitor had something to do. The result was great.

The hour was constructed in the familiar Benny form: He was preparing for his 20th anniversary broadcast, and the guests were arriving in a series of well-planned interruptions.

Benny's own comedy is untouched by age and never seems to stale. At the end, in a series of clips from old shows, Jack was seen in the same gestures and same pained expression on his face that make today's audiences laugh.

The hour followed this month's Bob Hope special which by contrast seemed to have been tossed together. However, the two programs in tandem, with perennial favorites turning up in droves, had enormous audience appeal.

Hope's hour too was loaded with star power: Lucille Ball, Tom Jones, George Burns and Danny Thomas. However, the shabby quality of its sketch material wasted most of the talent.

Even Hope's opening monologue, usually the high spot of the show, was off form.

CBS's "Gunsmoke" emerged as the most popular program during the week ending Nov. 9, according to the Nielsen rating. NBC's "Flip Wilson Show" stayed in second place, followed by "The Wonderful World of Disney."

The ratings were pretty mixed up during the week by election program pre-emptions.

Major event on tonight's schedule is NBC's two-hour "Hall of Fame" adaptation of "Hamlet," 9-11 EST. Richard Chamberlain of "Dr. Kildare" note plays the melancholy Dane, with John Gielgud, Michael Redgrave and Margaret Leighton in other roles. The play was taped in England.

MONTREAL (AP) — The annual Canadian Open Golf Championship will have a new sponsor and additional prize money for 1971, it was announced Monday night.

The 1971 Open is scheduled for the nearby 6,900-yard par 72 Richelieu Valley Golf and Country Club course July 1-4. Total prize money has been increased to $150,000, up $25,000 over last year, and first-prize money is increased to $30,000 from the previous $25,000.

NEW YORK (AP) — Quarterback Joe Namath of the New York Jets, who wasn't certain about his pro football future, apparently has decided to play again next season.

Namath broke his right wrist five weeks ago and said at the time he wasn't sure about his 1971 plans for National Football League competition. After having been sidelined for the Jets' last four games, his attitude has changed.

"The way I feel right now," Namath said Monday, "I want to play next season. I've discovered that I really miss not being able to play. That, and the fact that I can play better than anybody at my position and I want to prove that next year."

Probe Likely to Bring New Requirements

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) —

The Marshall University air tragedy that killed 75 persons may lead to new requirements for commercial airports lacking sophisticated electronic landing aides, the chief investigator into the crash said.

"There will be recommendations coming in this area, I'm pretty sure," said William L. Lamb of the National Transportation Safety Board. But he gave no details.

The small, one-runway airport where the chartered twin-engine DC9 jet crashed in rain and fog Saturday night has neither radar nor a system that warns pilots whose planes drop too low.

The investigation underscored a stark fact: Throughout the nation countless other airports serving jet airliners daily may lack the modern electronic aids taken for granted by many travelers.

In Washington, Rep. Fletcher Thompson, R-Ga., charged on the floor of Congress that the ill-starred Marshall football team and its fellow passengers would be alive today if the airport had the guidance devices.

Thompson called for installation of the warning light systems at all of the nearly 300 airports which he said handle propeller and jet airline landings without the electronic aids.

Charles F. Dohrill, president of the Tri-State Airport Board, blamed a lack of funds for the failure to have the modern equipment.

The warning light system, formally called a glide slope system, directs an electronic beam at an incoming jet that turns on a light in the cockpit if the plane gets too high or too low in its landing approach.

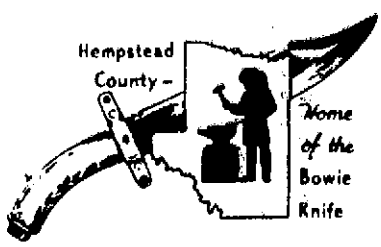

The fated plane had the receiving set but the Tri-State Airport at Huntington was equipped only with a localizer, a radio beam which warns a pilot if he strays to either side.

The charter jet from Southern Airways was lined up straight with the runway Saturday night when it clipped the top of trees on a high ridge and plunged into a nearby hillside where it exploded in flames.

John H. Reed, chairman of the NTSB, said the jet was obviously too low on its approach. The safety board has yet to find out why.

But, Lamb said, "there are no assumptions made at this time as to the cause of the accident. It is too early to know."

Indications Tight Money Policy Easing

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — After keeping the brakes on the economy for most of the year, the nation's top money managers appear to be inching toward more expansionist policies.

One possible signal came Monday when the Federal Reserve System's Open Market Committee disclosed it has voted to promote "some easing of conditions in credit markets and somewhat greater growth in money over the months ahead."

The committee, composed of the seven Federal Reserve Board members and presidents of five of the 12 Fed banks, manages the government's portfolio of more than $50 billion in U.S. Treasury securities.

How it decides to buy and sell securities can have a great impact on the bond market, the money supply and interest rates generally. Its policies can make the difference between tight money and easy money.

The open market committee meets monthly, but waits 90 days to release its policy decisions to the public. The committee's decisions announced Monday were made in mid-August.

The committee said in August that inflation, partly as a result of its tight money policies earlier in the year, had abated.

The committee said most members favored a yearly 5 percent growth in the money supply—cash and checking accounts deposits.

If the committee's policies had remained the same, it said, the money supply would have grown at about a 4 percent rate through the last half of the year.

The committee said it placed "considerable stress" on expanding credit to help the hard-pressed housing industry.

But three members, Fed board member Andrew F. Brimmer, Alfred Hayes, president of the New York bank, and Darryl F. Francis, president of the St. Louis bank, opposed the policy of fostering easing of credit.

They said it "would involve an unduly large risk of rekindling inflationary expectations."

The slight move toward easier money gained some impetus last week when the Fed lowered its discount rate, the amount its member banks charge for borrowing money, from 6 to 5 1/2 percent.

That decision led to a quick one-quarter of one percent reduction in the prime interest rate, the amount that commercial banks charge their biggest customers for borrowing.

Congress Asks Report on War Issues

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed a resolution recognizing a president has emergency war powers but calling on him to report to Congress when he uses them.

The resolution was sent to the Senate by a 288 to 39 vote Monday.

The measure reaffirms that only Congress can declare war and says a president should, when feasible, consult with it before taking emergency actions.

It also says a president should promptly notify the president of the Senate and the House speaker when he commits or enlarges U.S. forces abroad without congressional authorization.

Rep. Roman C. Pucinski, D-Ill., said the resolution "doesn't do very much" because its interpretation is left to the president.

"If the president wants to send troops into the Middle East tomorrow," Pucinski said, "there is nothing in this resolution to prevent him from doing so."

Passage of the resolution, which has no binding authority, came after Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said no president ever fooled Congress about the Vietnam war.

He said former President Lyndon B. Johnson deceived neither Congress nor the public on the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution, although he added Johnson's "attitude may have changed later as events changed."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed a resolution recognizing a president has emergency war powers but calling on him to report to Congress when he uses them.

The resolution was sent to the Senate by a 288 to 39 vote Monday.

The measure reaffirms that only Congress can declare war and says a president should, when feasible, consult with it before taking emergency actions.

It also says a president should promptly notify the president of the Senate and the House speaker when he commits or enlarges U.S. forces abroad without congressional authorization.

Rep. Roman C. Pucinski, D-Ill., said the resolution "doesn't do very much" because its interpretation is left to the president.

"If the president wants to send troops into the Middle East tomorrow," Pucinski said, "there is nothing in this resolution to prevent him from doing so."

Groceries May Cost More Next Year But Farmers to Get Less

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — America's groceries may cost more by the middle of next year but the farmer will continue to get less and less for them, the government predicts.

"Retail costs of market basket foods may average slightly above current levels through the first half of next year," the Agriculture Department said in a report Monday, because of a continuing rise in wages for grocery store workers and climbing transportation charges.

Nevertheless, the farmer's share of the consumer's food dollar will average 38 cents in the first half of next year, down another cent from third-quarter 1970, the report estimated. The share has fallen two cents in the last year.

The rest of the food dollar goes to distributors and processors.

But even here, the report said, middlemen's profits have not risen. Food manufacturers average a steady 2.4 percent ratio and profits for the 15 leading retail food chains declined from 1.1 percent in 1969 to 1.0 percent in the first half of this year.

The price increase, the report went on, is attributable to labor and transportation, which make up more than half the cost charged by middlemen.

The average hourly wage for all employees in the processing, wholesale and retail distribution of food during August this year was $3.01 per hour, 6.4 percent more than a year earlier.

Another factor is the cost of transportation, which actually declined during the early 1960s but has been going up the past three years and is expected to keep rising.

S. Vietnam Troops Push Into Cambodia

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Thousands of South Vietnamese troops pushed into northeast Cambodia today and uncovered one of the biggest North Vietnamese ammunition stockpiles of the war.

In South Vietnam, enemy rockets and mortars hit two U.S. bases, killing three Americans and wounding 20. It was the heaviest American toll from rocket and mortar attacks in one day since July 22.

The new drive into Cambodia netted 254 tons of 85mm ammunition found in four holes six miles inside Cambodia's Ratanakiri Province, opposite South Vietnam's central highlands.

The South Vietnamese killed 11 North Vietnamese guarding the ammunition cache, the government said, and killed seven others in small clashes in the same general area.

The only South Vietnamese casualties reported were two soldiers wounded when their helicopter was hit by North Vietnamese fire.

U.S. B-52 bombers and fighter-bombers hammered North Vietnamese supply routes and depots north and south of the 4,500-man South Vietnamese task force. But the U.S. Command said no direct American support was being provided for the operation 185 miles north of Saigon.

It was the farthest north South Vietnamese troops have ventured into Cambodia since the first U.S. and South Vietnamese drives into the country last May and June. It was also the fourth major South Vietnamese drive into Cambodia in three weeks and raised to 16,000 the number of Saigon troops operating across the border.

One of the American bases hit by the enemy gunners in South Vietnam was the big Bien Hoa air base and Army camp 15 miles northeast of Saigon. It was the first time the sprawling base had been attacked since May 3.

The U.S. Command said the enemy gunners slammed 25 to 30 Chinese 107mm rockets into the base. American artillery returned the fire, but the results were not known, a spokesman said.

South Vietnamese said that in addition to the American casualties, one Vietnamese civilian was killed and 13 civilians and one government soldier were wounded.

The U.S. Command announced that another battalion of the 4th Division, the 3rd Battalion, 12th Infantry, had been withdrawn from combat, cutting American strength in Vietnam by 920 more men. The withdrawal is part of President Nixon's fifth round of troop cutbacks that will reduce American strength in Vietnam to 344,000 men by the end of the year.

Hoover Rips Back at Clark, Calls Him Worst Atty. General

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI director J. Edgar Hoover and former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, apparently uneasy bedfellows in law enforcement for two years, have publicly divorced themselves with verbal blasts at each other.

Clark, Hoover's boss from 1967 to 1969, fired the first shot. The 76-year-old director's "self-centered concern for his own reputation," said Clark in a new book, led to the FBI's sacrifice of "effective crime control."

Hoover, in turn, told a Washington Post reporter that Clark was "a jellyfish," the worst attorney general in the 45 years Hoover has headed the elite federal law enforcement agency.

While a 1964 confrontation over standards for FBI agents resulted in Hoover's refusal to speak to the late Robert F. Kennedy in the last six months of his tenure as attorney general, the director told the Washington Post in an interview:

"If ever there was a worse attorney general, it was Ramsey Clark. You never knew which way he was going to flop on an issue."

"He was worse than Bobby Kennedy," the newspaper's Tuesday editions quoted Hoover as saying. "At least Kennedy stuck by his guns, even when he was wrong."

Clark could not be reached immediately for comment.

Hoover termed Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, his current boss, an "honest, sincere and very human man."

"There has never been an attorney general for whom I've had higher regard," the Post quoted him as saying.

In his book, "Crime in America," Clark charged "the FBI has so coveted personal credit that it will sacrifice ever effective crime control before it will share the glory of its exploits."

WASHINGTON (AP) — In what could develop into the first round of a Senate-centered presidential contest, Democrats Edmund S. Muskie and George S. McGovern are seeking assignment to the prestigious Foreign Relations Committee.

Another possible contender in the musical-chairs game is Hubert H. Humphrey, the 1968 Democratic presidential nominee who is scheduled to return to the Senate in January after a six-year absence. He formerly served on the committee.

Muskie appears to have the inside track to a committee seat which could strengthen his credentials in the foreign policy area for his already-percolating presidential bid.

The Maine Democrat told reporters Monday he has written members of the steering committee that assigns Democratic senators seeking the spot. He added he is considering an overseas trip, possibly including the Middle East and Europe, for later this year.

Muskie has devoted most of his time in the Senate to domestic areas such as pollution and urban legislation. McGovern, while not a foreign relations member, has been a leader of efforts to restrict the Vietnam war.

The South Dakota Democrat conceded in an interview Monday his bid for foreign relations is an uphill fight for two reasons:

—Muskie has four years of seniority over him.

—South Dakota's other senator, alling Republican Karl E. Mundt, is also a Foreign Relations member and generally only one senator from each state serves on the panel.

Another hopeful for the committee is Sen. William B. Spong Jr. of Virginia, who has less seniority than either Muskie or McGovern.

Two of the nine Democrats currently on the committee were defeated for re-election: Sens. Albert Gore of Tennessee and Thomas J. Dodd of Connecticut.

Cholera Now Problem in Storm Area

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN

DACCIA, East Pakistan (AP) — Cholera spread today among hungry, homeless survivors of the cyclone and tidal waves that devastated heavily populated islands at the mouth of the Ganges River and stretches of the East Pakistani coast behind them.

Estimates of the total casualties were still only guesses, although relief officials said Monday night that the count of the dead had reached 55,000. Information Secretary Syed Ahmed spoke of possibly "300,000 or 500,000" dead, adding that such numbers were not confirmed.

Cholera, a disease endemic to the area, was reported spreading on Hatia, one of the stricken islands in the Ganges delta.

Earth Tremor Felt Over Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A moderate earth tremor Monday night shook buildings and startled some residents in eastern Arkansas, western Tennessee and southeastern Missouri.

Reports of the tremor were received as far north as Poplar Bluff, Mo. and as far south as Helena, Ark. Police at Jonesboro reported "two distinct tremors" about 30 seconds apart between 8:09 and 8:11 p.m.

The Rev. William Stauffer, in charge of the St. Louis University seismograph, said the tremor was recorded at 8:14 p.m. and appeared to be located about 140 miles south of St. Louis. He said it registered from 4 to 4.5 on the 10-point Richter scale. The epicenter of the tremor was said to be near Poplar Bluff.

Stauffer said the tremor was

Bumpers Warns Slashes Rock Bottom List Agreed by Leaders

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. elect Dale Bumpers was scheduled to meet with Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller today to talk about the transition in administrations in January.

A Bumpers aide said the governor-elect was to lunch with Rockefeller at the Governor's Mansion. The time of the meeting had not been decided, the aide said.

Bumpers met Monday afternoon with four state department heads and asked each to stay on "indefinitely" when he takes office in January.

The four were State Police Director Ralph Scott, Revenue Commissioner A. B. "Bud" Hervey, Welfare Commissioner Len Blaylock and H. C. Adams, state Banking Commissioner.

Bumpers asked each man to provide him with information on budget proposals from the four departments. He also asked that each submit legislative proposals or administrative changes that they thought would improve state agencies.

Blaylock was asked about a report earlier that he expected to be dropped by the Bumpers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has dealt President Nixon on his first loss of the newly opened lame-duck session, rejecting by two votes his effort to water down a job safety bill backed by organized labor.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special Senate subcommittee opens today a new probe of GI drug abuse. The committee will include a hard look at discussing with newsmen the alcohol as well as other abused 90-minute meeting with Nixon.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's Republican leader, Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, said today he hoped Congress might accomplish more before adjournment than would appear likely at the present.

Basic items on the administration's most-wanted list of legislation were six pending appropriations bills and such other items as welfare reform, emergency school aid, manpower training, Social Security increases and bills affecting highways and housing as well as occupational safety.

Scott, who agreed with Ford that Congress was unlikely to adjourn sooner than three or four days before Christmas, said past experience indicated there would be casualties among the bills the administration wants.

On Monday Scott offered his own list of leftover legislation he said should be handled.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the majority leader, who had asked for "a rock-bottom list," said Scott "worked out in a conference with White House liaison officials—was a reasonable one."

It also was a long one.

The Scott agenda included more than 30 measures he said should be handled before adjournment.

"I suspect there will be some casualties," Scott acknowledged. "I'm not able to publish a casualty list this early."

Scott and other Republican leaders were called to the White House today to discuss the reconvened election-year session with President Nixon.

Mansfield said the list Scott produced was one Congress could handle over the next four or five weeks.

"If they get together, they can do it," he said. "It doesn't seem unreasonable to me."

But Scott said, and Mansfield agreed, that the session might
